

Maine Appalachian Trail Land Trust electronic newsletter*

We are pleased to announce that registration has opened for the:

October 21, 2006 - Saddleback Ski Area Lodge
Rangeley, Maine

Please join us for the first conference in 34 years devoted to the special problems and opportunities facing Maine mountains. Scientists will report on what has been learned about the unique nature of mountain soils, hydrology, geology, climate, vegetation and wildlife. Historians, land managers, mountain residents, and planners will explore the significance of our mountains and what the future may hold.

From our website at MATLT.ORG you can:

- View and/or print the full conference agenda
- Print a registration form
- Register online
- Read and/or print the proceedings of the 1972 Maine Mountain Conference

Special Appalachian Trail related presentations:

Appalachian Trail Vital Signs - Pam Underhill, Park Manager, Appalachian National Scenic Trail

Ecology of the Western High Peaks Region of Maine – Peter S. McKinley, Conservation Biology and Planning - Pete will be presenting the results of MATLT's Ecological Inventory of 500,000 acres in the High Peaks Region
